

Celebration of Learning Speaker Series presents:

Canadian Author Deborah Ellis

Deborah Ellis is best known for her Breadwinner Trilogy set in Afghanistan and Pakistan – a series that has been published in twenty-five languages, with more than one million dollars in royalties donated to Canadian Women for Women in Afghanistan and Street Kids International.

Deborah will read from Kids of Kabul and My Name is Parvana. She will also talk about the children she has met in other parts of the world and the role parents play in creating safe, creative communities for children in conflict zones.

Tuesday, April 30, 2013 at 7:00 p.m.

Aristo's Banquet Hall (behind Smitty's)
307 Grand Avenue West, Chatham

FREE public event for elementary students (grade 4 and up), high school students and adults.

Light refreshments will be served.

To register, call Tri-County Literacy Network at 519-355-1771 or toll free at 1-877-333-4833
or email us at tcln@cogeco.net.

Thanks to our sponsor:

The Ontario Trillium Foundation is an agency of the Government of Ontario.

Thanks to our community partner:

Chatham-Kent
Sexual Assault Crisis Centre